NEWS FROM THE COUNTRY

ADOLPHSTOWN.

A successful social being the second of a series in connection with the centennial church, Adolphstown was held at the residence of R. H. Hawley on the 10th Jan. A friendly time was spent for an hour or more after which sandwiches and cakes in abundance were passed around. Then came the entertainment of the evening with C.
R. Allison as chairman. Recitations by Misses Maggie Clark, Alma Roblin, Lulu Fraser, and Master George Hawley, with a reading by Miss Gertie Trumppour. The music was furnished by the choir under the leadership of councillor Rutan with Mrs. J.
Roblin at the piano, and Miss Mallory, of Campbellford, with the violin, made the programme complete. The meeting closed with the Doxology. Proceeds at the door over $13. All promised to meet at N. W. Mallory's on Wednesday the 24th January at which time it found that in 15 minutes more he would have died.

Stowe's Uncle Tom's Cabin Company played in the Opera Hall here on Friday last.

Rev. Dr. Sexton preached two powerful sermons in the Methodist church on Sunday last, the church being well filled on both occasions. He also lectured to good audiences on Monday and Tuesday nights.

Mr. Alex Morgan, of Napanee, spent Sunday in town.

A large number of our young people spent Sunday evening in Napanee, among whom were the following:
Misses Addie Scott, Adna Brown, Lina Parnham, Dallis McGaughey and Messrs Frank Young, Delbert Cook, John Brown and Harry Cole, and attended the Western church.

We are told that when returning from Napanee on Sunday evening, a few of our young people got on the wrong road on the ice and before they knew where they were they were on the Fredericksburg shore. Guess they

BARNEY KING IS FREE.

DAVERN REMANDED UNTIL NEXT TUESDAY.

Government Detective Rogers interviewed—King's whereabouts Established—Burns and Blair still too ill to appear.

To anyone who had followed closely the evidence adduced against Barney King, at the preliminary trial, it was a foregone conclusion that he would be acquitted on Tuesday. The evidence submitted in this case was of a very indefinite character and the greater part of it had no bearing on the case whatever. No great importance can be attached to the statement of Mrs. Mc-Leod that she was under the impression that King was the man when she only arrived at this conclusion from the state of her feelings. Precedents are on record where impressions of this kind have been nursed and strengthened by the testamentary suspicion of others, till to the holder they become not a suspicion but a certainty.
That she was not unprejudiced against King is shown by the fact that she warned her husband some months before the murder not to speak to such characters. That Mrs. McLeod is perfectly honest in the matter and would not do an injury to any one is obvious to any one who is at all acquainted with her that it is not necessary to mention it here. The other evidence produced proves nothing, and even had the crown established that King was in Napanee on the night of the murder that would only establish that it was possible for him to have committed the deed.

Of the witnesses called on Tuesday, their evidence went to show that King might be a liar but he was certainly not a murderer.
If he slept in Kingston on the night of the murder, as the evidence of these witnesses would go to show, and did not leave there until the afternoon of the following day he could not be the assassin of Angus McLeod.
Detective Rogers, who was in court, has kindly consented to trace up King's whereabouts and clear him from the suspicion that now envelops him.

The interest in the trial has somewhat abated as the crowd was not nearly so large as on the previous days of the trial. All the seats were taken up, however, and the sympathy of the crowd was all with the prisoner.

In the matter of John Davern no evidence has been forthcoming and none is expected that will in anywise incriminate him.
The case was again enlarged for the same reason as last week, as Blair and Burns were still too ill to appear.

Mr. Deroche wished them to adjourn the court to the residence of the witnesses Mr. Davern was anxious to have the witnesses sworn and all the evidence produced against him. He had no fear of the result and wished to leave this court so that it could be said that in connection with this matter there was not a stain on his character. Mr. Deroche would also like to have Chief Storms sworn, as it was him that laid the information. He would also like to have Detective Vankoughnet sworn.

Mr. Morden said the witnesses were not in a fit state to be sworn. Mr. Burns was very ill and he doubted if, in his present state, he would be able to speak collectedly on the matter. As for the other witness, Mr. Blair, he was in such a state of terror from threats that had come to his ears that he declined to torture him further. If Mr.
Deroche wished to have Chief Storms called he could do so on his own responsibility.

To Mr. Deroche—Mr. Jeremiah Storms sworn.—Am constable of the town and laid the information, but it was not from any personal knowledge of my own, but was imparted to me by others.

Mr. Deroche—What information was disclosed to you.

Mr. Morden advised the witness not to answer that question.

P. M. Daly thought it would not be wise or prudent to take the evidence of the witnesses in their present state. I simply enlarged the case in justice to Mr. Davern and I am quite willing to again enlarge the asked me if I could get King a job, I told him that I didn't hire hands but told him to speak to Mr. Prevost about it. The same day between 11th and 12th Mr. Prevost told me to take a job upstairs for Mr.

King, as he would be to work that day. I keep a reference book and from that I fix the date. I took the job upstairs, I asked Mr. Barry if King was here, but told me he had not put in an appearance.

To Mr. Herrington—I was not at the Toronto exhibition, neither was my employer, remember the date of seeing King only by referring to my reference book. He had not the book with him but could produce it at any time.

Mr. Herrington objected to this witness's evidence as he knew nothing about the matter further than what was contained in a book that was not produced.

Mr. Morden said this was the case for the crown, he would not ask for an enlargement of the case. King's whereabouts had been the hardest to ascertain of any man he had heretofore attempted to trail.

Mr. Herrington said that King had certainly been a very much abused man, and in justice to him the crown should endeavor to give him such a discharge as would not leave a stain on his character. King was a poor man and his incarceration in gaol on a charge of murder would seriously inflict with his success through life. In Napanee, where the case is known, it was all right, but in Prescott, Kingston, Trenton and all the towns along the line that have rung with the name of Barney King for the past three weeks it was an altogether different matter. The first question he would be saluted with on applying for a job in any of these places would be "are you the Barney King that was arrested for the murder of Angus McLeod?" and his solicitations for work would be rejected in almost every case. His poor father and mother, and his sister, to whom a little money means a great deal, had subscribed out of their slender income towards their son's defence would hear with joy of their son's acquittal.
Not a title of evidence had been produced that would in any way connect Barney King with the murder of Angus McLeod.
I say that the case has been managed with blundering stupidity by those in authority.

Mr. Morden says King's whereabouts have been difficult to trace; I say they have been easy to trace. The defence offered the crown the addresses of people who would testify that King was in Pontiac on the date of the murder. We told them that he telephoned the Big Store in Deseronto on the 7th of Sept. Howland Bros., of Kington, can show by their books that King was there on the 6th inst. Unless this man receives an honorable acquittal he is ruined for life. If his worship does not see his way clear to do that now on the evidence submitted we would ask him to enlarge the case. Detective Rogers, of Toronto, has kindly consented to trace up King's whereabouts. He will verify the defence's contentions that King was in Pontiac on the dates mentioned. I only wish that Mr.
Rogers had been given the case sooner, instead of having it in the hands of local detectives. It would not now be in the shape it is, when innocent men are arrested on a charge of murder without a title of evidence against them. This state of affairs was due to the blundering stupidity of retired farmers trying to act as detectives.

Mr. Herrington was greeted with loud cheers on resuming his seat.
Mr. Morden said Mr. Herrington has got an audience and of course he was improving the opportunity. I do not wish to take up the time with foolish arguments.
If there had not been a title of evidence produced against King why does Mr. Hrrrington desire us to enlarge the case and trace up King's whereabouts. He would advise King's acquittal, and if there was not a title of evidence against him there could certainly not be any stain attached to his character.

P. M. Daly said there were two classes of the wonder was how they lived. The other

HAY BAY.

A successful parlor social was held at A. C. Parks, Esq., on Tuesday night, under the auspices of the woman's auxiliary society. About one hundred were present. Rev. H. I. Allen, pastor of the circuit, was called to the chair and made a few complimentary remarks and offered prayer. Then commenced the programme, first the refreshments in first class style. Mrs. William Sharp and Miss Dafeo gave some very fine instrumental selections on organ and violin which were highly appreciated. Mrs. Huffman, Miss M. Hough and Mrs. Allen sang some choice pieces which were heartily encored. Mr. Perry, of Napanee, gave several recitations which took the house, he is certainly a very clever young man and we predict a bright future for him as an able lawyer. Mr. Knight, another young gentleman of Napanee, gave stirring recitations which took grandly, he too will make his mark in the World. Leonard Parks and Rev. Mr. Allen gave readings that delighted all present. Proceeds ten dollars.

DESERONTO.

On Sunday night last one of our young men had a very close call to death. Mr. Alex. Gowan went to his room about 10.30 that evening and left the top of the coal stove partly off so that the gas could easily escape and retired for the night. He thought nothing more of it until next morning when he felt very sick and fell on his bed. About 8.30 his two sisters came up to the room and could not get in, they pounded on the door, when he got up and with him in and how he did not mind to fathom, for after that he knew nothing or nobody until about 3 o'clock in the afternoon when he began to come to himself again. We hope to see him around in a day or two all right again and we think he will be a little more careful in the future. The Doctor said that if he had not been must have been giving with one hand. On Friday morning a fire occurred at the east end of the town in a house occupied by Messrs Scott and Revere. The loss is considerable, no insurance. Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Stuart, who have been very low with la grippe for some time past, are slowly recovering. Mr. Jack Robinson, of Napanee, spent Sunday afternoon in town. Mr. A. L. Chandler, of the Tribune, went to Belleville on a business trip on Monday of this week.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Marigan, who died on Sunday, took place on Tuesday morning and was very largely attended. The Deseronto branch C. M. B. A. attended in a body. The remains were taken to the Napanee vault.

The Canadian Order of Chosen Friends held a very successful "at home," in the Foresters' hall, on Monday evening. A good time is reported by all present.

Mr. J. H. McDonald, of the Central office, is to give a complimentary dinner to his friends in Deseronto at a future date.

case so that the witnesses might give evidence that would clear John Davern of all suspicion in the matter. I therefore adjourn the case until 10 o'clock a.m. this day week, to be held at my office.

King's appearance in court created a fresh interest in the proceedings. He appeared the most unconcerned man in the court room but followed the evidence closely. The first witness called was J. M. Ballantyne who swore as follows. Live in Napanee and know Mr. King, am a cutter by trade, King is a coatmaker, have known him since the early part of June, met him in Napanee then under painful circumstances, never worked in the same shop with him, met him again in McAllister's store sometime in August, just saw him the once, the next time I seen him, to the best of my knowledge and belief, was three days previous to the murder of Angus McLeod, that would be the 11th of September. I saw him between Hogan's and the late Mr. McLeod's place of business sitting on a tie post.

To Mr. Herrington—Do not know that was the time he was looking for work, it might be possible that I am mistaken and he wasn't here since the week before the murder.

When asked by Mr. Morden if it was possible he could be mistaken in the date by a week he answered no.

To Mr. Herrington—I think it was the 11th of September but it might be possible that I am mistaken in the date.

Amos Smith sworn—Live in Napanee, have lived here for about 21 years, know Mr. King slightly since he was married, got into Napanee the night of the murder between 11 and 12 o'clock at night, was accompanied by my brother-in-law, Mr. Roe, of Yarker, was coming home from the county show in Picton, did not see Mr. King that night, did not tell any person that he had a drink with him the night he came from Picton. It was the Saturday or the Monday before the murder that I think I saw him and had a drink with him. Was not sure whether it was the Monday or Saturday before the murder, or it might have been the time he buried his wife, when he had craps on his arm, that would be about two months before the murder.

Mr. Herrington claimed that Mr. Morden was persisting in making the witness say that King was in Napanee the week of the murder. The witness did not know that it was not two months before the murder that he had seen him. The witness had said that he had a drink with King in a hotel after his (King's) wife's death. King had craps on his arm.

The magistrate objected to Mr. Herrington breaking in on Mr. Morden as if he wished to tell the witness what to say.

Mr. Herrington said he was defending a man, a Frenchman and a stranger, on the charge of murder. All he wanted was British fair play and that he would have. If King had been a resident of Napanee and had friends the crown would not have dared to pursue such a course as had been followed in this case. As long as Mr. Morden drifted away from the rules governing the taking of evidence he would certainly join issue.

To Mr. Morden: He couldn't say when it was that he saw King, it might have been the night he buried his wife or it might have been the night he came from Picton that he had the drink with him, he didn't pretend to fix the date.

J. J. G. Pellitiers sworn—Live in Kingston, am a cutter by occupation. know Barney King, just saw him one day, in Kingston, in September, either on the 6th or the 13th, know it was on a Wednesday, was sure it was one of those Wednesday's, King spent the night at our house, understood he had come from Prescott, didn't know where he was going, he had a sack coat on and a little round tweed cap, he told me he had lost his hat either getting on or off the train. King tried to get work in Kingston, I met a friend of mine, Mr. Ried, and asked him if he could give King a job. He would swear that it was either the 6th or 13th that he saw King, had looked up the dates and tried to verify them but couldn't. There was nothing peculiar about the hat King wore, it was a striped tweed hat and fitted him, did not know how King came to mention that he had lost his hat, do not know what train he came in on, he was positive it was on a Wednesday, but could not say whether it was on the 6th or 13th. Do not know how long after the McLeod murder that I saw King.

To Mr. Herrington—He stopped with me over night and left my place after dinner either on the 7th or 14th.

J. A. Reid sworn—Live in Kingston, am a cutter by occupation, and met Mr. King for the first time in September, coming down Princess street, was introduced to him by Mr. Pellitier, it was between the 11th and 16th of September. Mr. Pellitier of this kind and I hope it will be a lesson to those young men in the future. There has been many mistakes in the case, not however on the part of the crown. The steps taken was about the only way the case could be cleared up. I therefore discharge King and allow him his liberty.

Asked by Mr. Herrington if he discharged Mr. King without a stain on his character. He refused to say anything further on the matter.

DETECTIVE ROGERS INTERVIEWED.

In an interview with Detective Rogers he began utterances to the same views as were expressed by us last week, viz: that the McLeod murder was the work of a professional and an outsider. Mr. Rogers believed that the first shot was the one that killed McLeod. He believed that when McLeod went from the hall into the bedroom the burglar was under the impression that he went to arm himself and when McLeod made his appearance he shot him for fear of being killed himself. The other shots were simply fired to cover up his retreat. Had it been the work of an amateur he would have tumbled out as soon as he found out he was discovered. Even had he fired once, no amateur would have been cool enough to calculate the chances of pursuit, and take the precautions that were taken to cover up his retreat. He did not think there was any evidence to connect King with the matter whatever. He thought that the way the case had been handled by the authorities was the worst bungle he ever knew to be made of a case. "Our method of procedure" said the detective, is first to gather our evidence and when the chain is complete to arrest our man. Here the rule was reversed. They first arrested the suspected men, and then sit out to look for evidence against them. I would not think of arresting a man on the strength of such evidence as is in the possession of the crown. Even if they had proven that King was in Napanee on the night of the murder that would be nothing to make out a case against him. He smiling referred to Detective Vankoughnet as a nice sort of a fellow, but had no experience as a detective. He was of the opinion that the real murderer would never be apprehended.

KING'S WHEREABOUTS ESTABLISHED.

Barney King is in possession of letters from friends and former employers fully corroborating his statements as to his whereabouts on, and previous to, the night of the murder. A perusal of these letters will prove to the satisfaction of the most skeptical that Barney King was not in Napanee from the 7th of September till the night he was arrested. Messrs. Herrington & Warner are in receipt of a letter from Mr. Thornton, Norval, stating that King was in Norval between the 9th and the 11th of September. He was accompanied by a young man who was travelling with him, Mr. Adams, a cutter in Mr. Thornton's employ, corroborated this statement.

By the letters in Mr. King's possession he is able to show where he was by the statements of his former employers, on nearly every day in the month of September, but as no reasonable doubt can exist in the public mind as to his innocence we refrain from publishing them.

NAPANEE, FRIDAY, JAN. 19, 1894.

Hon. T. M. Daly, Minister of the Interior, learned at the Toronto Board of Trade banquet that a post-prandial speech to be acceptable must of all things be brief.

The Provincial government will meet for the transaction of business on Feb. 14th. The Federal government will meet when the United States has settled their little difficulty about the Wilson Bill.

Now that the Provinces of Manitoba, Prince Edward and Ontario have declared for prohibition, of what further use is the federal government's Royal prohibition committee as far as these provinces are concerned.

Mr. Sam Hughes, M. P., editor of the Lindsay Warden has established his claim to be the great fighting editor of Ontario. He succeeded in knocking out Reeve Kylie, of Lindsay, in one round with a big overcoat on and his mitts in one hand. Mr. Hughes may not be overburdened with brains but he is the possessor of lots of brawn.

THE members of the Dominion Government are getting back at the Manitobans for the defeat of their candidate in Winnipeg. Mr. Daly, Minister of the Interior, has referred to them as "a lot of flees." Mr. Bowell has declared that they are "a little off" and the Empire with its usual bluntness reminds them that compared with the rest of the Dominion Manitoba is only a speck upon the map.

Another of the "poor struggling infants," so numerous among the manufacturers of Canada, has reached the philanthropic state. Mr. A. F. Gault, the head of the Montreal cotton combine, has given $100,000 to the Montreal Theological College, to be devoted to the training of clergymen. And still the federal government, instead of interfering, uphold the cotton duties which have enabled Monopolist Gault to exact so much tribute from the Canadian people that he can afford to endow theological seminaries.

Ontario's legislature is to meet for the despatch of business on the fourteenth of February. Oliver Mowat is not "looking to Washington" for a policy; has no party dissensions to adjust and is not afraid to meet opponents or supporters in parliament. Hence the session of 1894 is to begin nearly two months earlier than that of 1893. There is no mystery about Sir Oliver or his programme. The session will open on the 14th of Feb. it will close on the 12th of April and the general election will take place about the first week in June.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Mr. Editor,—In your issue of Jan. 5th, I wrote a short letter in which I challenged a certain slanderous statement made in the now somewhat famous "Deanery letter" that appeared the week before in your paper and over the signatures of the English church clergy of the "Deanery of Lennox and Addington."

Last week there came two letters intended, I suppose, as replies to my challenge, the one from Rev. Mr. Tighe in your paper in which he re-affirms the statement I challenged, another in the Beaver from Rev. Mr. Jarvis in which he says the statement I challenged "we did not make."

Now, Mr. Editor, perhaps I ought to give these gentlemen a week to consult "apocryphal" stories, he is simply trifling with the common sense of his readers and paying a very doubtful compliment to the intelligence of the community.

Touching my use of the word "denomination" when speaking of the English church, I beg to offer the following, as at once, explanation and justification:

It is well known that when English church clergymen have occasion to refer to any of the non-Episcopal churches of the land, they almost uniformly call them "denominations," or "religious bodies," as in the Deanery letter, or in some moment of exuberant politeness, "the church not mentioned in the Bible," as does Rev. Mr. Jarvis in his letter of last week.

Now, Mr. Editor, is it not rather to my credit than otherwise, if I have taken it for granted that in all their so doing they were surely acting upon the "golden rule" and "doing unto others as they would that others should do to them." And when others "do even so to them," they have really received a compliment to their christian charity you see which I hope they duly appreciate whether they deserve it or not.

Now, Mr. Editor, in conclusion, the position of this discussion is simply this: In my letter of the 4th inst., I quoted the following from the Deanery letter: "Thus it is that in voting for prohibition we would be joining with the enemies of christianity." I said: "I challenge that statement and ask in the name of justice that the man who made it shall either substantiate it or retract it."

In reply Rev. Mr. Tighe has written in last week's EXPRESS "re-affirming" in substance this slanderous statement and Rev. Mr. Jarvis has written in last week's Beaver recklessly denying, and saying the "statement we did not make"; but neither the one nor the other has made the slightest attempt to "substantiate that proven statement, or has had the manliness to "retract" it.

Now until they do; until they meet my challenge without subterfuge and squarely, as one honest man ought to answer another, I shall not notice any further effusions from them; but leave them pilloried by public opinion; standing before the community "convicted of slander." Yours truly,

S. J. SHOREY.

Napanee, Jan. 16th, '94.

To the Editor of the EXPRESS.

Mr. Editor,—In accordance with announcement made, I understand Mr. Atkinson kept his people on Sabbath night until 9 p.m., with a dissertation on the subject of the water being turned to wine, during which he sent a few harmless arrows at the "gentleman of the Stone church and his utterances," which I may briefly allude to. I have but to reiterate what he is reported to have said. "I never have any quarrel with other clergymen, but have always striven to live in harmony with them all," and should have continued so had I not been forced to defend myself or rest under the stigma cast upon me as well as others." His announcement was misleading, as also his statements. I made no attack. Had the men who sent out their precious document been courteous instead of cowardly and given time for an answer in the press there would have been no occasion for pulpit reference. As it was, no other available means opened but to protest against the base insinuations it contained. Mr. A. challenges the right to interfere on the part of others with an article signed by several clergymen intended for their party. Just so—had these men sent loving epistles to their flocks entreating them not to put away the accursed thing so as to make it difficult to obtain the good crater when wanted, or when necessary to keep the temptation near as a "test of faith," it a hundred years ago it was no uncommon thing to find liquors in the cellars, sideboards and on the tables of even clergymen. The times of this ignorance God may have "winked at," but now, when the sons of clergymen cannot accept their father's advice and "take a glass and let it alone," but keep imbibing until they are brought home drunk, it is quite time we "put away the guilt of innocent blood."

My short statement in the pulpit must have aroused the indignation of your correspondents wonderfully, as I see no less than four attacks made upon me in the press last week, inspired of course, as every careful reader can see, but by two minds. Mr. Atkinson does me the high honor of saying that "this subject has been prominently brought before the people, in the pulpit and on the platform for weeks past." How much better that sounds than another saying, "he went to the polls and voted" with the liquor party, "to perpetuate a business under law that ruins financially, morally and religiously everything it touches, and he a clergyman!" The worst sort that walks the street expects better things of the ambassador of Jesus Christ.

He appears to take a little unction to his soul as a sort of conscience remedy, and help him in the estimation of the best thinking portion of his own flock, by saying "the present Venerable Archbishop of Ontario is in good company in receiving an attack for not seeing eye-to-eye with these self constituted reformers." I am right glad of that utterance for two reasons. First,—It gives me the opportunity of correcting the misrepresentations as to what I did say in the pulpit re the under shepherds, etc. My words were, "I trust there will be enough christianity among the laity of the Anglican church (not my hearers as reported) for which I have the highest respect, to follow the teachings of their Archbishop and not those of these under shepherds, who profess to be the representatives of the spotless Son of God."

Secondly,—It exposes the ignorance of the Selby Incumbent, who, notwithstanding his boast of having "spent his all in five years hard study of the Bible and the Fathers," seems wholly at sea as to the true relation he sustains to his worthy and highly honored Archbishop. I have that excellent address of Archbishop Lewis, on prohibition, before me in print, and from which I will quote, that Mr. Atkinson may know whose company the venerable prelate keeps, his or mine. He said, "after 23 years of experience I state my opinion that the sins and miseries resulting from the use of ardent spirits are as appalling as they ever were. * * * My faith in Temperance Societies as eradicators of this evil is not strong, while I see the vice everywhere rampant with all its concomitants, neither have I hope in our christianity effecting a moral reformation as regards this vice. * * * A man must be sobered before he can be christianized. * * * But it is argued that people cannot be made sober by acts of parliament. Now such a short, pretty saying sounds like a proverb. * * * Let us analyze it a little. It is just as true that men cannot be made honest by acts of parliament. But that does not prevent the passing of laws prohibiting theft, fraud and dishonest dealing. In spite of these laws there is much fraud and theft, but who is his senses doubts that the laws immensely lessen them. Even so I doubt not that in spite of a prohibitory law there will be much insobriety, but I maintain that it would be reduced to a minimum. I argue that a law that should not be enacted unless it be universally obeyed, is absurd.

"This knocks the foundation from under these scholastic divines, who would have us believe they are not upholding the liquor traffic by preaching and voting for its sanction by law."

some policy, and decide whether they will unitedly "re-affirm" or deny. As it is now, being among the joint authors of the utterance I challenged, their directly contradictory statements concerning it must be very embarrassing to them.

Concerning the very dignified (?) letter of Rev. Mr. Tighe, I am bound to say it is not altogether without value.
There may be many readers of the Express who, like myself, have not the honor of a personal acquaintance with this gentleman, but when they would read his characteristic letter with its allusion to "wrestling with chimney sweeps," and believing that this is clearly a case in which "the style is the man," their desire for any closer acquaintance with its author would, to say the least of it, no longer be consuming. Let me say to Mr.
Tighe, it was not necessary to become abusive at all.

No one would, for a moment, have thought him any the less a "priest" if he had been a good deal more a gentleman.

Concerning the letter of Rev. Mr.
Jarvis in the Beaver, it contains so many misstatements, and shows such a reckless disregard for facts, that one is obliged to believe it must have been written in circumstances of very unusual excitement, or is the confused utterance of a mind bewildered by some desperate stratagem.

He says, first—"If Rev. Mr. Shorey had written his reply in the same journal in which the Deanery letter appeared there would have been no necessity for noticing his communication." Mr. Jarvis ought to know, certainly might have known, that I did write my reply in "the same journal in which the Deanery letter appeared."

Next he says—"The Rev. gentlemen stopped short in the middle of a sentence where there was not even a comma to justify him." Wrong again!
I quoted a complete sentence, and there was a "comma" at the end of the sentence I quoted, the chief value of which, however, in this case, is to prove that Mr. Jarvis did not know what he was writing about.

Besides, sentences are not made or unmade by the accidents of punctuation, but by the words used in their construction.

Touching the charge of making a "gerbled quotation," I join issue with Mr. Jarvis squarely. The paragraph in the "Deanery letter," from which I made my quotation, contains two independent co-ordinate sentences joined by the conjunction "and"—two distinct and separate statements literatim and the sentence I quoted contains its meaning within itself, and is not at all dependent for its sense or its interpretation upon the sentence that follows.
I quoted that sentence verbatim et literatim, and without word or comment.

I said, "I challenge that statement," yet Mr. Jarvis says I challenged a "statement we did not not make." Nevertheless there the statement is in "black and white," as any one can see who has sufficient patience to read the "Deanery letter," and over his own signature, and those of his brother clergymen of the Deanery.

One hardly knows which to pity more; the man who unblushingly, nay almost savagely, re-affirms substantially the slanderous statement, as does Mr. Tighe; or the man who recklessly, and in the face of the plainest evidence, says, as does Mr. Jarvis, the "statement we did not make." That such statement was made is now beyond dispute, and if said statement is not a slander upon prohibitionists, it would be quite relevant, and surely quite easy for Mr. Jarvis to show what, in the name of the English language, it does mean.

But when instead, he has contented himself with denial, and seeks to divert public attention by "medieval" and I stated in my pulpit utterances, as soon as public teachers place their instructions in the press and assail all who differ from them; as they positively did all prohibitionists, then they are open to public criticism. I see Mr.

Jarvis denies the statement appearing over his signature, and calls it "ger-bled," as also Mr. Atkinson in his long effort to answer what took me just three minutes to say—denies the same thing. These gentlemen might do well to read the story of Geo. Washington and his hatchet. Mr. Tighe differs from both these men. He says, "I reaffirm that in voting for prohibition I would be playing the part of an enemy to christianity. I am unflinchingly opposed to prohibition as unchristian, unwise and impracticable." Are all who differ from these clergymen to hold their peace, when they tell us by implication, that all distillers, whiskey sellers, toppers, church members and ministers who vote against prohibition are the friends of christianity and those of opposite views its enemies?
"We didn't say so." Well to set your readers' minds at rest I will give them verbatim, not stopping in the middle of a sentence, but from period to period what they did say and leave your readers to judge whether prohibitionists were slandered or not, "Thus it is that in voting for prohibition we would be joining with the enemies of christianity," and admitting what they say is true, viz: That our religion is a failure, that the safeguards which God has given us therein are insufficient, and that we are forced to fly to the secular arm of the law to bring about that which the finger of God apparently could not accomplish. "The quotations of the entire sentence, as Mr.
Jarvis desires, but aggravates the case and is a libel upon all christian probi-hibitionists. Who of them ever said, "our religion is a failure."

Acting then on my conviction of duty though not "equal or like Paul," I "unloaded my cranium" in defence of the attack made by these gentlemen, instead of, as Mr. Atkinson asserts, "attacking them." He seems wonderfully affected that I should express "pity for these teachers" before such a crowd in my church, but he forgets that their attitude in the press was far wider still in its circulation. I hear that he laid considerable stress, as did some of your correspondents, upon the reference to the "under shepherds," and also labored hard to show the correctness of their statement, that "Christ made wine and partook of it inasmuch that he exposed himself to the lying calumny 'Behold a glutton-ous man and a wine bibber.'" What wonder then that these men, as his representatives, having their " credentials" from him, who did not come from the "plow tails" but "spent their all in preparing for this priesthood," should be chagrined to have their ipse dixit called in question.
What wonder that they should use the wine statement when it is so generally understood that not a few of their class lay themselves liable in the same manner as they say Christ did. I have nowhere asserted "they charged the Saviour with drunkenness," other than by inference, else what force in the statement as proof that the wine he made was fermented. All controversy on this question must now end, as "the deliberate and unanimous voice of the whole Episcopate throughout the world has settled it." I am astonished that no better argument be adduced for the perpetuity of this terrible curse than to say it's right because Christ made it "and drank it." The logical conclusion is, therefore, his representatives have the right. To remove this by law would be "to condemn Christ as a criminal, and to put away temptation that God permits to exist, as a test of our faith."

teachers should sacred the Archbishop says, "If a prohibition law be passed it will in nowise be a restriction of political freedom, but a splendid illustration of it. It will be no invasion of the liberty of the subject, but a wise exercise of it. Individual liberty goes to the wall nowadays whenever the social wellbeing makes the demand." * * * We may depend upon it, that if a prohibitory law be not passed the magnitude of the evils springing from intemperance will lead to an interference with personal freedom quite as galling as any resulting from a probibitory law." He closes an able address in these words: "If we fail we shall have the consolation that we have tried to do our duty." As to the remarks of Mr. Tighe, they are characteristic of the man. If he be the noted Tighe from Trinity College, Dublin, that once figured in Prince Edward, and his habits have not changed, he might have saved himself the trouble of such strong denunciation against prohibition, as it would have been accepted without the telling. This veritable gentleman once boasted in Selby of his marvellous ability to win members from other churches, saying "if he were here he could bring 9 out of 10 into his church." His influence must have increased of late, even in his skill of proselytizing. It will be well while he is searching the scriptural proof in favor of his anti-prohibition sentiments to see what the Master says re the man who proselytes. I am sure Mr. Shorey will be grateful to him for sanctioning his position as against his "brother priests." Had I been identified with cant and hypocrisy for as many years as Mr. T. professes to have been, I might be open to the charge laid against me of "professing love for the church, and doing all I can to hurt it," but my advent from the "plow into the ministry" after "reading the bible through once," and not even studying church authority or orders, must be my apology for my ignorance in certain lines. I defy—alias "church member," alias "a member of St. John's congregation at Selby," who will write on the same strain, (funny joke, eh?) to point out one act of my life where I have tried to hurt the English church: I re-affirm what I stated in my pulpit that Sabbath that "I have great respect for that church," as well as all sister churches, and this feeble effort to turn the church against me by misrepresentation in hope to save these clergy from censure, won't work with intelligent churchmen.
Since I am likened unto a "chimney sweep," it will never answer to forget my important duty, viz: to expose dust and sweep out filth wherever found, even if among clergymen, and that too without injury to the church, as many of its members will not follow their teachers on this line.

The subjects of "orders" and "Holy Catholic apostolic church" is simply the stock in hand with such men when cornered, I never raised the question as one asserts, and I fail to see what relation they sustain to the subject in hand, unless it be to get an opportunity to rehearse the old poetic dab about "Bishops" and propounded this stunner, "where are your credentials?" Well, I did not obtain mine from the church of Rome direct, or I might be following her practices to-day as closely as some high church ecclesiastics whom I have met.

I never supposed that all other churches were to look upon the Anglican church as standing alone in this anti-prohibition movement and I can't quite yet believe it though one writer declares the "plebiscite movement" to be a "sectarian scheme" and "an attack upon that church." Verily this is information, and if true, Sir Oliver Mowat and the alliance should be arranged for inaugurating such a movement. We do "not uphold the liquor traffic." Well, if advocating in chargeable with doing so. But "liquor will be used long after that learned gentleman is forgotten by this generation." Undoubtedly, while it has so many able advocates educated and trained in the schools, who never had even the humble position of farmer's sons and never disgraced their cloth by driving the "plow" but with Apostolic authority, and credentials from the true church, are exercising their functions as clergymen, it will pursue its work of devastation and death despite all the sober, heretical schismatics whose sin is worse than that of drunkenness, can do to promote temperance.

Mr. Editor, this letter is already much longer than I intended, but as I had a sermon and four press articles at me, I could not well stop sooner. I will close by saying that the "misrepresentations" all rest with those who have written, and not in my pulpit utterance, and when the cowardly man who made the largest amount of misstatements comes from his hiding place under his nom de plume and tells the public who he is, I shall be pleased to make plain his falsehoods. Until then I shall not waste powder firing at chipmonks in their holes.

NEW YORK, Jan. 17.—Margaret Linbeck, a handsome young English woman, who was formerly a lady in waiting at the house of Lady Jane Douglas of England, through her attorney, Col. E. T. Taliaferro, filed a suit in the Court of Common Pleas against Commodore Elbridge T. Gerry, to recover the sum of $50,000 damages for alleged false arrest and imprisonment.

At the time of the false arrest Miss Linbeck was employed as maid and companion to Commodore Gerry's daughter and the Commodore's cottage at Newport was entered while he and his family were absent and only the servants were in charge and Miss Gerry's jewelry and diamonds were stolen. Commodore Gerry, it is alleged, caused the arrest of the plaintiff, charging her with the robbery. Her innocence it seems was quickly established and she was released.

DOUGLAS' EGYPTIAN

DOUGLAS BRO. & CO., NAPANEE, ONT.:

DEAR SIR,—During the summer of 1890 I had a mare staked in such a manner that people advised me to shoot her. I got DOUGLAS' EGYPTIAN LINIMENT and Syringe. After cutting the skin open on rump was enabled to get hold of the stake, which was nothing less than part of a handspike that had gone in her flank and was pulled out at root of tail. After using DOUGLAS' EGYPTIAN LINIMENT as directed, my mare was at work in three weeks. The above happened in distressing hot weather. I now keep it in the house and use it for almost everything where a Liniment is required. I cannot recommend it too highly; every household should keep it for immediate use. Inflammation nor proud flesh never threatened. I declare the above to be correct and true.

COLDS & COUGHS

QUICKLY YIELD TO
ALLEN'S Lung Balsam

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17. — Considerable headway appears to have been made at the afternoon meeting of the Senate Finance Committee which was largely attended and lasted for more than an hour. Mr. Carlisle's letter was again discussed, and while no conclusion was reached by direct vote it appeared to be the sense of the committee manifested by an absence of opposition that the best thing to be done for the immediate relief of the treasury was to make the gold reserve intact, leaving the question of meeting the deficit in revenues open for further consideration.

After the meeting adjourned Senator Voorhees, chairman of the committee, gave to a reporter the following statement: The embarrassed condition of the Treasury and the necessity for prompt action for its relief are fully realized. There is not the slightest ground, however, for apprehension that the public credit will suffer or be endangered, for the reason that ample authority already exists by law for the Secretary of the Treasury to strengthen his coin reserve to any extent required and to meet every demand that can be legitimately made. The power of the secretary for the issue of the bonds need nothing beyond what is given by the act of January 14, 1875. The only desirable object to be attained by the new legislation at this time on that subject is to make a shorter time bond with a lower rate of interest, and yet the secretary feels assured that he can negotiate bonds issued under the Act of 1875 running only 10 years on practically a 3 per cent. basis. It seems, therefore, that it will be wiser, safer and better for the financial and business interests of the country to rely upon an existing law with which to meet the present emergency rather than to encounter the delays and uncertainties always incident to protracted discussion in the two Houses of Congress.

This view of the subject is rendered more imperative by the fact that the condition of the treasury admits of but little if any delay, and no uncertainty at all in the final action to be taken.

It would be trifling with a very grave affair to pretend that new legislation concerning the issue of bonds can be accomplished at this time and in the midst of present elements and parties in public life without elaborate, extensive and practically indefinite debate. It is also obvious to everyone that the consideration and discussion of the tariff now going on in Congress will render any financial legislation at this time far more difficult and complicated than it might be under other and different circumstances.

AMENDING THE WILSON BILL

Strong Fight on the Proposition for Free Wool in August.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—There was but a slim attendance on the floor and in the galleries when the House met yesterday. After some routine business Mr. Boulette (Rep., Maine) caused a momentary flutter by endeavoring to call up his Hawaiian resolution and denouncing the way in which the matter had been smothered by the majority. The House then resolved itself into committee to consider the tariff bill, and in accordance with the special order heretofore adopted the bill was read in full prior to the consideration of amendments to it.

The House worked smoothly and methodically to-day on amendments to the Wilson bill. These were offered by the chairman himself and all were agreed to except one, providing that the free wool clause should go into effect on Aug. 1 next. A strong fight was made on this amendment and it was still pending when the House took a recess at 5.30.

The amendments agreed to reduce the tariff on furs for hatters' use from 20 per cent. to 10 per cent. ad valorem, calfskin, patent and japanned leather, dressed upper leather, chamois and other skins from 20 to 15 per cent.; all hydrographic charts be placed on the free list. The rate on condensed milk was changed from 20 per cent. ad valorem to 2c per pound. Chair canes or reeds, wrought or manufactured from rattan or reeds, were taken from the free list and a tariff of 7 per cent. ad valorem imposed.

In the Senate the House bill to repeal the Federal election laws was formally taken up to-day after the morning hour, and the debate was entered in support of it by Mr. Palmer (Dem., Ill.), a member of the Committee on Privileges and Elections, from which the bill was reported. The bill has now become "unfinished business" and will have precedence of all other business (after the morning hours) until disposed of or displaced by a vote of the Senate.

giving Mr. Hoar (Rep., Mass.) an opportunity to criticize the position of the President in extorting from the Queen a promise of amnesty and to draw a parallel between the President and the Queen as to the "reckless disregard of each for the constitution of their respective countries."

Mr. Gallinger (Rep., N.H.), made a speech against any tariff changes under the present administration.

The Ways and Means Committee held another meeting at the Treasury Department last night and considered the text of the Income Tax Bill heretofore reported. About two thirds of the bill was adopted, with a few minor changes, which in no way affect the principle of the measure. The question of the duty upon barley and barley malt is to be further considered.

REMARKABLE CASE OF EXECUTION OF THE EXECUTIVE CLEMENCY.

Infant Children of a Bigamous First Wife, Left Dostute, Jailed as Vagrants, Released by the Crown on Pardon—Ottawa Branch of the National Council of Women of Canada.

OTTAWA, Jan. 17.—A very remarkable case of the exercise of clemency on the part of the Crown has just occurred here, which goes to show how curious the ways of the law sometimes are. Some time ago a man named Cardwell was convicted at the North Lanark Assizes of bigamy and sent to the penitentiary. His first wife died soon after, leaving two children, Gilbert, aged 8, and Bertha, 10. The children were entirely alone and helpless by their mother's death, and the only thing the county authorities could do with them was to have them committed to the county jail as vagrants. This was done. Some kind-hearted people of Perth, where the jail is situated, became interested in the case and made arrangements for the children being taken care of in an orphanage in Kingston. But here a difficulty arose, the children had been formally committed as criminals and as such had to remain in jail. The only way to get them out was by invoking an exercise of executive clemency, and this was at once done. A petition was addressed to His Excellency the Governor-General setting forth the facts of the case, and he on the advice of the Attorney-General for Canada promptly ordered their release.

A meeting of ladies was held in the City Hall this afternoon, at which Lady Aberdeen presided, and after she had delivered the same address she gave in Montreal, on the formation of the National Council of Women of Canada, a resolution moved by Lady Ritchie and seconded by Lady Grant was carried unanimously that a local council of women in connection with the National Council be formed in Ottawa. STARVED AND MURDERED.

A Lancashire Factory Operative After Keeping His Wife Brutally Kills Her.

BURNLEY, Jan. 17.—Some extraordinary evidence was given at an inquest concerning the death of Ann Slater, aged 41, for causing which her husband, Richard Slater, factory operative, is now in custody. Several neighbors said that frequent quarrels had occurred between the parties, and that the woman had often been left for days without food.

The woman died last Thursday, her husband declaring that he found her dead in bed.

The neighbors found her absolutely naked, and said that she was bleeding from the side of the head. Contradictory testimony was given as to the woman's habits and health.

Dr. Brown said he found cuts and bruises all over her body, and six ribs were broken. These injuries could not have been caused by a fall, but more likely were caused by a heavy weight, such as a knee being pressed against the breast bone. The woman had also suffered from bronchitis and pleurisy. The injuries had caused her death. She had been insufficiently fed for many months.

The police produced a fender found in the house with blood stains and human hair upon it. After a protracted hearing the jury last night returned a verdict of wilful murder against Slater.

Bankers Deny Receipt of the $5000 Offered As a Reward.

PARIS, Jan. 17.—Nothing has as yet been learned that would throw any light upon the case of Edward Webster, the young American, who mysteriously disappeared in this city on New Year's eve. Munroe & Co., the bankers, have not yet received the $5000 that it was alleged had been offered as a reward for knowledge as to Webster's whereabouts. A representative of the firm stated that all they knew about the case was contained in a mysterious telegram from Theodore Conking, the boy's stepfather, asking if Webster's mother had de-

A BULLET THROUGH HIS BODY

JOHN STEWART OF HAMILTON SHOTS HIMSELF IN BUFFALO.

Paid His Hotel Bill, Then Went to the Bathroom and Fired a Shot That Will Prove Fatal—He Had Been in Poor Health for a Year and Was on His Way to Danville for Treatment.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Jan. 17.—John Stewart of Hamilton, Ont., shot himself in the left breast with a revolver in a bath room at the Brozel House about 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Stewart and his wife came to Buffalo about a week ago. Mr. Stewart had been in poor health for about a year and the couple left Hamilton intending to go to Danville for treatment. When they reached Buffalo Mr. Stewart decided not to go to Danville and until to-day he refused to leave Buffalo.

At 3 o'clock he entered the office and paid, his bill telling the clerk that he and his wife would depart for Danville on a train leaving at 4 o'clock. He then ascended to his room on the fourth floor and going to the bathroom fired the shot which will probably prove fatal. The bullet entered the left side about an inch below the breast and passed through the body. When the clothing was removed it dropped from a fold of the vest. In its course it struck a rib, the shoulder blade and passed through the left lung.

At a late hour to-night Stewart was conscious, and though comparatively free from pain he was weak and likely to die at any time.

G. T. B. TICKET CLERK MISSING

A DEFAULTER IN SEVERAL THOUSAND DOLLARS.

Detectives Are Looking For James C. Bain, Clerk At the Toronto Office of the Grand Trunk—How He Obtained $800 from Exchange Broker Webster on Saturday.

TORONTO, Jan. 17.—James C. Bain, ticket clerk at the G. T. B. offices, Yonge-King-streets, is missing and auditors are presently going through his books.

It is known that he is a defaulter, but to what extent has not been ascertained. It is not believed, however, that his shortage will exceed $4000 or $5000.

Bain, who has been in the employ of the Grand Trunk for about seven years, is a married man, and with his wife rented a furnished house at 17 Montague-place.

He was at his desk as usual Saturday, and District Passenger Agent Slater left him in the office at 6.30 Saturday night. When he failed to report for duty Monday it was surmised that something was wrong. Subsequently it was learned that he had secured from Mr. A. F. Webster, exchange broker, Yonge-King, the sum of $800.

It has been customary for the various ticket clerks to exchange United States money with theatrical companies for good Canadian dollars collected by the troupes in their tour through Canada. Saturday afternoon Bain visited Mr. Webster's office and told that gentleman he was short $800 of United States money in making the change for the Pulse of New York Company. Mr. Webster personally handed him the money and accepted Bain's "I.O.U." for the amount, expecting, of course, that Bain would shortly return with the amount in Canadian money.

This, however, Bain failed to do, and carried away the $800 along with his stealings from the G. T. B. office.

Bain's wife, to whom he was married about a year ago, accompanied him in his flight. A visit to the house in Montague-place, where they resided, showed the premises to be deserted, but Bain has thoughtfully left behind him a number of his photographs which will doubtless aid the police in securing the arrest.

Bain was well known in the city. He was a bugler in the Queen's Own Bugle Band. He formerly resided at Port Hope. His father is a traveler. Young Bain is under 30 years of age.

Bain was traced to Niagara Falls and boarded a train for Rochester a few hours ahead of detectives who were sent after him.

LORD BERESFORD ESCAPES.

The Swindler Who Three Years Ago Visited Toronto Escapes.

ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 17.—"Lord Beresford," who was convicted in Rome, Ga., last year for forgery and sentenced to serve five years in the State penitentiary, escaped from the convict camp at Kramer last night. He boarded a train for Florida and it is supposed has made arrangements to sail from a Southern port for England.

Lord Beresford was arrested at Americus this morning and returned to the camp. He was arrested in a house of ill-fame.

Sydney Lascelles, alias "Lord Beresford," is a young Englishman who in February, 1891, eloped from Sewickley to Toronto with Lilian Blumenthal, a rich young Jewess, and whose swindling operations while boarding at the Arlington Hotel and in St. Thomas are yet fresh in the public mind. Though young he had traveled the wide world over, leaving a name as a swindler and forger wherever he went. While wearing the dress of a Georgia convict he wrote his autobiography.

SHOOTING AFFRAY AT THE 800.

A Swede Fires at His Wife and Two Boarders.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Jan. 17.—Jacob Larson, a Swede foreman on the ship canal, tried to shoot his wife at the New Bakery building yesterday. About noon he had a quarrel with his wife, which ended by him drawing a revolver and firing twice at her, but the revolver missed fire. He then aimed at one of the boarders with the same result, and finally succeeded in wounding a Finlander of the name of Isaacson in the left arm. The bullet has not been extracted as yet. Larson was subsequently arrested. No reason can be given for the crime.

HOOPER WAS KIND TO HIS WIFE.

The Defence Expect to Close Their Case to-day.

JOLLETTE, Que., Jan. 17.—For the first time since the beginning of the case witnesses have been called in defence of John Reginald Hooper. There are a score of witnesses to be examined by the defence, and they claim that they will finish by this evening. Then there will be a day for evidence in rebuttal, and then the addresses by the five counsel and Judge Delorimier's charge in both languages. Thus it is doubtful whether a verdict will be rendered before the beginning of next week.

The first witness called this morning was Realie Standre, wife of Toussaint Malo and mother of the late Mrs. Hooper. She testified that in September last her son, Edward Leblanc, took her to a hotel at Jollette, where she saw accused. He told her that his wife had jumped into the river as the train was crossing a bridge at Louiseville. He wanted her husband and son to go to fetch her back, but they could not as the son was very sick and he died since. Edmond Leblanc went with the accused and the next day they returned to St. Ambroise de Kildare with Mrs. Hooper and young Grenier. She remained there five days, and during that time she ate and slept very little. Once she went to the spring and got water with which she washed herself from head to foot. Again there was a noise at the window one evening and she said, "Don't be afraid, it's my sister Josephine who has come for me; it is an angel."

During her stay at her mother's deceased because very weak, and witness was afraid she would die very soon. She never saw the accused act any way but kindly towards her daughter, although she was never informed that her daughter had been kept for two years in an asylum.

Mrs. John T. Hickmitt of Ottawa testified that prisoner had boarded with his wife at her home from Oct. 15, 1882, to March 15, 1883, and that he always treated her kindly. Three times during her stay there she had been seized with hysterical fits.

Mr. Joseph Baugh of Port Hope swore that when Hooper went there on Sept. 29 he was anxious to have the fullest investigation into his wife's death.

LONDON, Jan. 17.—Lieut.-General Sir George Tomkyns Chesney, M.P., delivered a speech in London last evening on the defence of the British Empire. Great mental agony is endured by parents who see their children suffering from diseases caused by impure blood, and for which there seems no cure. This is turned to joy when Hood's Sarsaparilla is resorted to, for it expels the foul humors from the blood, and restores the diseased skin to fresh, healthy brightness. Read the following from grateful parents: "To C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.:

Mr. Drewery, representing the Toronto Globe, appeared before the council asking their reasons for objecting to the Globe's illustrated edition of Napanee, and if it was their intention to settle for the same.

The members of the council showed Mr. Drewery that their reasons were a legion for objecting to the illustrated edition, as it was poorly printed, not of the size represented, and in it Napanee was not at all recognizable. Dr. Ward was of the opinion that the Globe Company got off very well if the town did not take action for libel against them. Ex-councillor Warner, the mover of the motion that the Globe Company be not paid until the Edition was published as represented, made a short speech in which he enumerated the many just reasons for objection; the birds-eye view of the town was printed from an old cut that had been printed in the Express by Mr. Drewery a number of years ago, it was poorly printed in the Globe, was not of the size contracted for and the other cuts of the town were simply a blur. Mr. Drewery admitted that some of the photographs were old ones, but the cuts used were all new, the Globe Company was willing to publish another view of the town, free of charge, together with a column of reading matter if that would be satisfactory to the council.

The council decided to take no action in the matter.

Moved by J. F. McAllister, seconded by Mr. T. E. Anderson, that whereas the present system of committing the helpless poor to the County Gaol as a place of refuge is contrary to the true spirit of charity that should characterize the care and maintenance of that unfortunate portion of the community who find themselves without means of sustenance in the late years of life, and whereas through there being no organized system throughout the municipalities of the County for the proper care and maintenance of the poor of the said Municipality; other than that provided by this town, a large proportion of the said poor are thereby attracted to the town and thus become an additional and unfair burden on the taxpayers of this corporation, and whereas this council deems it expedient that a proper place of refuge should be provided for the poor of the county at large, and thereby compel each municipality to pay a just proportion of the expense for the proper care and maintenance of the said poor, therefore it is resolved that this council direct our representatives to the county council to bring the matter before the said county council as its first meeting and use their best efforts to induce the said county council to provide such place of refuge for the poor of the county as will meet the requirements of the several municipalities for the purpose aforesaid.

Council adjourned.

wall to be now as it was originally built, the reason for its not being perfectly straight lying in the fact that the wall was erected in parts, as the foundation was laid, and a slight error in calculation led to the discrepancy.

Stole a Hog's Carcass.

One night recently Mr. Leverton, who resides at Mount Pleasant, Richmond, was aroused from his slumbers by a noise. He, with others in the house, got up and went out half clad to see what was the matter. They found two or three men leading one of the horses from the barn. A shot was fired at the robbers, and they started off in their rig, leaving the stolen horse behind. It is thought one of the robbers was wounded as traces of blood were found on the ground. The thieves carried off the carcass of a hog which was in the drive house.

The Search Abandoned.

Edmund McMaster and his son John, returned from Bath Tuesday, after having spent a week searching the ice on the Bay of Quinte, for his son James and a young man named Dempster, who were lost recently. They found the sail, oar, and rudder belonging to the boat, which contained the unfortunate young men. These things along with an oak pole were picked up about two miles from Amherst Island. Marks made by the boat while being pushed through were seen on the ice, but the boat could not be found. The search has been abandoned.—Whig.

The Wardenship.

County council meets in Napanee on Tuesday next, and the first business will be the election of a warden. We understand there are two aspirants for the honor Mr. J. C. Carscallen, reeve of North Fredericksburgh, and Mr. Jno. Carson, reeve of Napanee, both gentlemen being worthy to occupy the position. But if long and continuous service, ably performed, counts for anything, Mr. Jno. Carson should be warden, which is not saying or meaning anything detrimental to the representatives of North Fredericksburgh. We should like to see Mr. Carson Warden for 1894. Politically both aspirants are opposed to the Express, but as the County Council is hopelessly Tory this year, any chance for a grit to be warden is out of the question.

Golden Wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Guess, of Yarker, celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding day on Jan. 2nd. at the residence of their son-in-law, Jno. A. Shibley. About forty of their relatives and friends met for the occasion. After partaking of a sumptuous dinner, prepared by their daughters, music and singing were freely engaged in, and suitable addresses for the occasion were given by Rev. E. S. Shorey, of Harrowsmith, Rev. S. J. Shorey, of Napanee, C. S. Shorey, Camden East, and John Gardiner, of Kingston, (all nephews), and Rev. R. W. Marsh, resident minister. A pleasing feature of the occasion was a piece of poetry recited by Mrs. Guess, which she committed to memory over 60 years ago. Mr. and Mrs. Guess began married life in the Township of Kingston, in the village of Elginburg. They have been faithful consistent members of the Methodist church for about fifty years. They received a large number of handsome and valuable presents, among them being several pieces of gold coin from their children. After a prayer was offered. Thus ended a day long to be remembered.

Odessa Division Court.

Division court opened Thursday 11th, with Judge Price on the bench. The docket was long; some of the cases were settled. The first case was that of E. O. Clark vs. Fellows. The plaintiff claimed he was injured while driving from Yarker to Odessa and asked damages. Judgment was given for $25 without costs. S. Babcock vs. Asseltine, suit for wages; plaintiff got judgment and costs. Hagadore vs. Wright was an action in which Hagadore claimed $33.80 for wages while selling chairs. He got the chairs shipped to him, sold them and kept the money, and then sued for what he got. He later gave Wright $16 and paid the costs. In some cases men were ordered to pay one dollar a month and others adjourned until next court.

Card of Thanks.

To the Officers and Members of Napanee Lodge, No 194, A.O.U.W.

Gentlemen,—Permit me, through you, to express my sincere thanks to the Grand Lodge, Ancient Order United Workmen, for the prompt payment of my claim of $2,000.00 as beneficiary of my late husband James Nelson Benn. To Napanee Lodge, also, I feel indebted more than I can express for many acts of kindness shown to my family and myself during the long illness of my husband, extending over a period of more than two years. May the Husband of the widow and the Father of the orphan ever bless and prosper such institutions as yours.

Yours gratefully,
Napanee, Jan. 15th, 1894. Lois BENN.

The Effie Hext Entertainment.

The Effie Hext concert, in the Opera Hall, on Tuesday evening, under the auspices of the S. Mary Magdalene church, was attended by a large and appreciative audience. The Opera Hall, which has been repainted, decorated and generally renovated, presented a clean and attractive appearance and many complimentary remarks were passed re the handsome appearance of the stage. Owing to the absence of Mr. Robt. Harvey, of Kingston, Miss Lillian Hall presented at the piano and acquitted herself in her usual excellent manner. Miss Rathbun, in her first appearance before a Napanee audience, created a very favorable impression and she did appear here again, would prove quite a drawing card. Miss Rathbun is the possessor of a sweet, well-trained, musical voice, and her rendition of Daffodil Times and Douglas Gordon won for her an enthusiastic encore on each occasion. A duet, by Messrs. A. N. Jewell and W. W. Daly, which was substituted for a quartette as per programme, was rendered in fine style and won for them a hearty encore. Miss Effie Hext fully sustained her reputation as one of the foremost elocutionists in Ontario; her rendering of "The Chariot Race, from Ben Hur," being exceptionally fine. Her forty-five statuesque posings, in Greek costume, were strikingly realistic and much admired by the audience. The Sunday School children of the English church were given a great treat in the shape of free tickets to the entertainment and they seemed to enjoy the evening fully as well as their elders.

Sunday next, Jan. 21, will be Septuagesima Sunday. The name being derived from the fact that it is (in round numbers) the 70th day before Easter. On that day the church universal begins her preparation for the great annual season of fasting and abstinence which commences on Ash Wednesday. This year Easter falls very early so that our Christmas and Epiphany season is cut short very perceptibly.

The services in S. Mary Magdalene's church will be as follows, Matins and Litany, 11 a.m.—Evangelion, 7 p.m.—Bible class and Sunday School as usual.

Last Sunday Mr. Low, of the cathedral, conducted the services, celebrating in the morning and preaching two excellent sermons, one at each service, to very good congregations.

Parish of Selby.

An unusually large congregation attended divine service in St. John's church on Sunday night last. The incumbent preached on the "Temperance question." Strangers and others were supplied with leaflets and the service was very heartily taken part in by the congregation.

Much interest is being aroused in the expected visit of Rev. Stearne Tighe, A.B., to Selby and it is hoped that the Rev. gentleman will be able to safely cross over the bay to Bath.

Services next Sunday as follows:—St. John's, Selby, 10.45 a.m. St. Jude's, Kingsford, 2.30 p.m.

Parish of Bath.

The rector, Rector Dean Baker, has announced that (D.V.) on Sunday evening next, 21st inst. he will deliver a lecture on the temperance question now agitating the public mind. Seats free. All welcome.

The annual missionary meeting has been appointed for Wednesday eve, 31st Jan. Deputation, Rev. J. R. Serson, M. A., and W. D. Lipton. A rousing meeting is looked for.

The monthly missionary service and the fifth of the series of lectures on church history in connection with the Bath branch of the Woman's Auxiliary took place in the church on Friday eve, 12th inst. Owing to the prevalence of lagrippe the attendance was scarcely as good as usual. The Rev. Mr. Patton, of Deseronto, delivered the lecture, which was one of the very best of the course and dealt with the period from the Norman conquest up to the Magna Charta. It is trusted that Prof. Worcle, of the Royal Military College may be induced to give the February lecture.

The cream of the dramatic talent of Bath are preparing a play entitled "The Mountain Wait" by the author of "The Spy of Gettysburg" which was received with so much favor a year ago. It will be brought on first week in February and without doubt will be the event of the season.

GENERAL NEWS.

The annual convention of the Brotherhood of S. Andrew in Canada takes place at Ottawa. Delegates will be present from the Atlantic to the Pacific, but we are afraid that our local chapter will not be represented. The first meeting will be on the following Sunday evening.

"It is a sign of the times that quite recently a "church parliamentary party" has been formed in the English House of Commons, for the purpose of defending the interests of the church when threatened by hostile legislation. There are now more than ninety members of all shades of politics who have connected themselves with this organization and they are men not to be trifled with when a critical moment comes.

To the Rev. Albert L. Geen, Belleville.
Reverend and dear Sir,—We the churchwardens of the churches in Adolphustown, Gosport, and Fredericksburgh, in the name of the parishioners, beg your acceptance of the accompanying work of art, as a slight token of regard for yourself personally, and our appreciation of your clerical services so ungrudgingly rendered us for more than five years and literally "without money and without price." We regret that you can no longer assist in the Sunday work in this parish as heretofore. We shall miss you from among us, but it will be a satisfaction to know that others near at home to you will gain what we lose. Accept our best wishes for your future welfare and prosperity and for the welfare of your family. May you long be spared to be useful in the church of God. We are your sincere friends and well wishers.
